Mumbu and Kumba were two football teams in a town called Timbala. Both teams had good footballers. They were rivals. They both had a large number of supporters. Sometimes, there were clashes between the supporters of Mumbu and Kumba. Last year.

Mumbu won the league trophy but Kumba won the knockout trophy. The two teams were to play a champion of champion match to determine which team was the real champion. A date was fixed for the match. Supporters of both teams engaged in endless debate as to which of the teams would win the trophy. At stake was a giant trophy, a set of jerseys and a cash amount of two hundred thousand cedis. Nana Awuah III, the chief of Timbala donated a thirty-two seater bus for the winner. Both teams started intensive training. They trained twice a day, both in the morning and in the afternoon. One day a staunch supporter of Mumbu went to where the players were training. His name was Mugu Yaro. He told the coach that he knew a powerful juju man who could help them to win. He was able to convince the coach to agree to see the juju man.

Answer the following questions

1. Which team won the knock out trophy?
2. How would they determine which team was better?
3. What was the debate between the two groups of supporters?
4. What did Nana Awuah III donate?
5. Who was Mugu Yaro?
